The Game Fish Tagging Program started in 1995 primarily funded from Virginia saltwater fishing license funds and matching funds from VIMS.

The program's origins started in the 1980's when Mr. Claude Bain, III, former director of the Virginia Saltwater Fishing Tournament (VSFT) under the Virginia Marine Resources Commission (VMRC) approached Mr. Jon Lucy at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science (VIMS) about developing a tagging project on red drum.

Bain and Lucy realized not only were critical habitat and seasonal movement data limited for red drum in state waters, a similar situation existed for a number of other marine recreational species like black drum, cobia, speckled trout, and tautog. As a result, they decided to explore developing a multi-species, angler-assisted tagging program.

Mr. Lewis Gillingham, is the current VSFT Director and manages the VMRC portion of the tagging program. Ann Burnett also of the VSFT, deserves special recognition for her exemplary work, data management and guidance, all of which keep the program on track. Ann's workload in 2013 was especially large due to the large number black sea bass recaptures-her efforts are greatly appreciated. Also from the VMRC, Mr. Todd Sperling, took extra time to create special new web-based platforms and query options for the VGFTP database program database.

Ms. Susanna Musick, Marine Recreation Specialist in the Marine Advisory Program at VIMS, is the Principal Investigator for the tagging program. Also at VIMS, Ms. Dianne Roberts provides critical assistance to the tagging program assisting with tag orders, assignment and distribution of tags and preparation for workshops. Dianne did a wonderful job in 2013 entering several hundred black sea bass tag and recapture records during the summer.. Ms. Cheryl Teagle coordinates purchasing tags while helping manage the tagging program budget. VIMS Publications provides critical assistance in preparation of posters and annual reports. Ms. Susan Stein and Ms. Silvia Motley in the Publications Center handle printing production of annual reports. The VIMS Game Fish Tagging Program website is maintained by Ms. Lee Larkin.

The Game Fish Tagging Program is a team effort by many critical players, especially the anglers who devote significant time and effort to tagging target fish and reporting fish recaptures.

VIRGINIA GAME FISH TAGGING PROGRAM 2013

Introduction

Through 2013, the Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program has maintained a 18-year database of records for tagged and recaptured fish. The program is a cooperative project of the Virginia Saltwater Fishing Tournament (under the Virginia Marine Resources Commission-VMRC) and the Virginia Institute of Marine Science (VIMS) of the College of William and Mary (under the VIMS Marine Advisory Program).

The primary goal of the program is to train and maintain an experienced group of anglers who are willing to volunteer their time and effort to properly tag and release their fish catch. Data on tagged and recaptured fish are summarized in annual reports and are accessible on VIMS website: <http://www.vims.edu/vgftp/>. Time series data are organized and provided whenever requested by anglers, angling groups, researchers, and fishery managers.

Program participants are trained to tag only designated target species in Virginia waters. Participation in the program is capped at two hundred trained taggers. Supporting this number of taggers has been manageable when meeting tag and tagging equipment needs, performing timely data entry, and mailing of tag-recapture reports (and reward items) to anglers reporting catches of tagged fish.

Funding for the program is applied for annually through a competitive proposal process under VMRC's Recreational Fishing Advisory Board. The program funding requires the Board's positive recommendation, which then goes before the VMRC Commissioners for final approval. If funding is approved, Virginia Saltwater Recreational Fishing License Funds (administered by VMRC) primarily cover budget needs, with additional matching funds contributed by VIMS.

A cooperative but separate funding proposal from that of the VSFT office is submitted annually to the VMRC by VIMS. The VIMS portion of the program focuses primarily on coordinating, maintaining and purchasing all tags and tagging equipment (tag guns, tag sticks, tagging needles, and constructing measuring boards). Also included in the VIMS budget are local travel costs and costs for presenting program results at scientific meetings. VIMS also handles several printed materials including tagging training handouts, waterproof tagging data sheets, and laminated posters alerting anglers to target species and the telephone number for reporting recaptured fish. The design, printing and publication of annual reports also falls to VIMS, including data analysis and the publication and maintenance of digital reports on the VIMS website.

The Virginia Saltwater Fishing Tournament office also submits a separate proposed budget. This budget predominantly covers expenses associated with purchasing reward items for recaptures and mailing such items (with printed Fish Recapture Reports) to people phoning in tagged fish recapture information. Reporters of tagged fish choose among various reward options including custom T-shirts, caps, sun visors, pewter fish pins, or plastic tackle organizers (as long as such items remain in stock).

Recapture awards encourage diverse members of the public (including commercial fishermen, seafood dealers, etc.) to call in reports of tagged fish they encounter. The reward system and recapture reports provide positive feedback to anglers and encourage them to continue to participate in the program and report future recaptures of tagged fish. Direct association of angler taggers with others in the angling community enhances program awareness, reminds anglers (and commercial fishers) of the importance of reporting tagged fish, and provides the angling community with positive fishery conservation role models. The program succeeds because of good teamwork across the angling community.

The tagging program documents annual and year-to-year movement and habitat utilization patterns of selected finfish species in Virginia waters. For certain species, the program documents significant coastal migrations. Many of these species spawn in the lower Bay or nearshore waters of Virginia and use Virginia estuarine and coastal waters as nursery and feeding grounds.

The program's results are of interest to the angling community and to fishery researchers and managers. The number and size distribution of fishes tagged each year compliment other research-based data sets and can help fishery managers gain a more comprehensive picture of sizes of fish released in the state's marine recreational fishery.

Tagging effort for flounder, red and black drum, speckled trout, cobia, spadefish, triggerfish and sheepshead primarily occurs in the Bay and near-shore coastal waters. However, tagging of tautog, black sea bass, spadefish and gray triggerfish occurs over much broader areas of the Bay and inshore-offshore waters. Tagging for structure-oriented species occurs on sites such as fishing piers, artificial reefs, the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel complex, shipwrecks and other bottom sites occurring from the lower Bay to sites offshore of Virginia.

Special tagging continues at warm water discharge sites through cooperation with Virginia Dominion Power. Tagging data from the Yorktown Power Station (York River) and the Center for Energy Conservation Power Station (Elizabeth River) have helped to document these areas as important overwintering sites for various species, especially speckled trout and red drum.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Basic objectives guide program activities. There are five main objectives:

(1) Develop and maintain a quality tagging program using a corps of trained angler taggers; tagging effort of these anglers should be directed to target species, especially where one can take advantage of significant numbers of non-legal fishes which anglers are readily discarding alive while complying with recreational fishing regulations.

(2) Where and when appropriate, direct program tagging effort toward opportunistic occurrences of strong year classes of fishes in Virginia's Bay and nearshore-offshore waters, especially species not traditionally subject to scientific tagging studies in such waters, i.e., red drum, black drum, speckled trout, tautog, sheepshead, spadefish, etc. The program does not target species currently monitored and/or targeted in state waters by research-based tagging studies coordinated by fishery research agencies and institutions, in particular, striped bass.

(3) Maintain a database of tagged and recaptured fish records accessible to the angling community, but also of use to fishery researchers and managers as the database matures. Make summaries and reports of such data available to the angling community through annual reports, websites, presentations to angling clubs, kids fishing clinics, etc. and provide requested data to researchers and fishery managers.

(4) Use the tagging program to enhance education of marine anglers about the importance of reporting tagged fishes to appropriate organizations, agencies, and research institutions to enhance understanding and management of key fishery stocks important to Virginia's marine recreational fisheries.

(5) Use program results to educate the angling community about fishery conservation and management benefits directly connected with proper handling and releasing of non-legal fishes. Tag-recapture data prove that using proper catch and release fishing practices results in better angling catches both short-term and long-term.

The program maintains a group of experienced, trained, angler-taggers who can capitalize on opportunities to tag key species that often exhibit high abundance levels during a given fishing season. These events contribute to rebuilding and sustaining specific fisheries in Virginia's one billion dollar recreational fishery and take on even greater value when this program documents sizes and abundance of recreationally-targeted fish and the habitats they utilize.

Database Improvements

As in previous years, Mr. Todd Sperling's (VMRC) skills are indispensable for managing the program's data files. Since 2009, data are quarantined whenever a recaptured fish species does not match that of the tagged fish (such records are linked by their specific fish tag number). This feature allows the review of such data inconsistencies, which may be the result of various issues, i.e., recaptured fish tag numbers being misread and thereby reported incorrectly, a recapture angler's recall mistake regarding the species of tagged fish they caught, etc. Such reporting irregularities seem to occur most frequently at fishing piers and other heavily fished shoreline locations.

Other cases may include "negative days at large" for recaptured fish, i.e., when a tagged fish's reported recapture date is earlier than the reported recapture date. Also, if a recaptured fish's size is significantly different from what would be expected, this may suggest either the person reporting the recapture badly estimated the fish's length, or the recaptured fish's tag number was reported incorrectly, etc.; such issues can then be investigated and hopefully clarified. These recapture data issues more often occur on reports called into the office and left on voice mail outside of regular office hours.

Details of Program Responsibilities

In addition to handling the majority of recapture data entry, the VA Saltwater Fishing Tournament office distributes tags, needles, etc. These items are regularly mailed to taggers and records are maintained regarding tag-number series assigned to the participants. This information is important for tracking down late tagged fish data reports for reported recaptures. Similarly, "Fish Recapture Reports" generated from the database are mailed to both the tagger and the angler reporting the recapture (along with the available reward item). This timely feedback loop is critical to the success of the tagging program.

Every tag clearly states that a "REWARD" is offered for reporting recaptures of tagged fishes. Appropriate reward items (program caps, sun visors, t-shirts, fish pins, etc.) are mailed to anglers (and commercial fishers and fish dealers reporting tags) by the VSFT office along with fish Recapture Reports. The most popular reward item is the t-shirt, which must be printed in limited numbers each year to stay within budget. Typically, late in the fishing year the t-shirt supply becomes exhausted. Then other reward items are substituted for it (most reporters of recaptured fish understand such issues).

The majority of data for both tagged and recaptured fishes are entered into the database at the VSFT office; the data go directly into the database maintained on a server at the VMRC. The VMRC database manager is proactive in contributing to the improvement of tagged and recaptured fish data and outputs. Current options include setting up various reports that provide "single-click" data summaries for review and tracking program results.

VIMS continues to serve as a remote site for entering tagged and recaptured fishes data for selected program participants. To relieve some of the workload from the VSFT office, VIMS (Dianne Roberts) enters all data for the program's most productive tagger, Mr. Ed Shepherd. From 2007-2013, Mr. Shepherd has tagged 2,000-10,000 fish annually (2,866 in 2013, Table 1) which resulted in 550-

1000+ recapture reports each year. Ms. Roberts also provides critical feedback to the program regarding data organization, tagging inventory, workshop materials and dissemination preparation.

At VIMS, tagged fish and recapture data records are also checked for possible inconsistencies and errors; the corrected data then are analyzed and formatted for various presentations and reports. Figures demonstrating fish movement and habitat use patterns are also developed for a variety of educational programs (VIMS Marine Science Day, kids fishing clinics, science teachers and public presentations). Data and graphics also are developed in different formats for various program dissemination needs, i.e. VIMS website pages, annual tagging training workshops, posters, annual reports and presentations (angling clubs, civic groups and scientific meetings). Tag and program equipment orders including the construction of fish measuring boards are handled by VIMS.

VIMS also periodically conducts tag retention field trials to evaluate whether changes might be warranted regarding the type of tag used for a specific species. Depending on the size range of fish, certain tags are more appropriate for small fish specimens (like the 2.5 in T-bar tag) versus large fish (plastic and stainless steel dart tags). For target species larger than 26-28 inches total length, the program recommends using a 6.25 in. stainless steel dart tag with wire core sheath.

Since 2008, select taggers have been testing dogleg dart tags (DD tags) and wide-anchor dart tags (DW tags) for improved retention in speckled trout and red drum. Tag retention studies continued in 2013 for these plastic dart tags to examine patterns of times at large (versus T-bar tags). Recapture rates and times at large are being examined to determine if distinctive patterns result from the DD and DW tags.

2013 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Tagging Effort and Recaptured Fish Results

Through 2013, the program's database included over 239,709 tagged fish records and approximately 25,831 recapture records (Table 6). (*Note: VGFTP data referenced here include summaries of fish tagged and recaptured in terms of the number of fish recaptured (Table 5) and the cumulative number of recaptures, including multiple recaptures of the same fish (Table 6).)

During 2013, 99 trained anglers tagged fish. In March, "Top Tagger" awards were presented in Hampton at Bass Pro Shops' Spring Fishing Classic seminar series. The Tagging Program is fortunate to have a consistent group of anglers dedicating volunteer effort into tagging considerable numbers of fish that result in useful recapture data. The 2013 top taggers were responsible for the majority of tagged and recaptured fish data last year. The good-natured competition for the annual awards encourages taggers to work at becoming more consistent in their tagging. By doing so, they have a chance at making the list of annual award winners for any given year.

Trained anglers' tagging accomplishments appear in Table 3 by number of tagged fish. Sixty-seven anglers tagged 25 or more fish during 2013, which accounted for about 98 percent of all fishes tagged in the year. This participation level is similar to 2012. These anglers' consistent efforts produce the majority of data on local and regional habitat use and movement patterns of target species.

Top ranking anglers by total recaptures during 2013 appear in Table 4. The majority (95%) of recaptures reported during the year were accounted for by the 45 taggers listed. As expected, anglers tagging the most fish often have the highest number of recaptures per year. Higher numbers of recaptures are associated with a number of variables including fishing (and tagging) frequently, organizing one's tags and data sheets to enhance tagging efficiency, and tagging at locations which hold individual fish for significant periods and which are fished frequently by other anglers.

The range of fishing/tagging areas covered by VGFTP taggers is important to keeping the program data relevant to target species dynamics including year-to-year abundance, habitat use and seasonal migration patterns. However, also important are a smaller number of taggers who routinely push themselves to even higher tagging goals (200-900+ fish per year). The teamwork and cumulative data resulting from taggers at each tagging effort level keep the program responsive to changes in Virginia's recreational fishery.

Addressing Challenges

Multiple recaptures of individual fish often occur at fishing piers or other sites that hold fish for extended periods (this is often the case with black sea bass, flounder, etc.). Multiple recaptures of black sea bass at fishing piers demonstrate that careful handling of undersized fish results in reasonable survival rates of the fish. Another positive result of successful releases is such fish often contribute in the future to another good day of fishing. However, especially at fishing piers, the practice also contributes to the referenced problem of some inaccurate reporting of tagged fish recaptures. Further, demand for recapture rewards at these sites can be challenging during certain periods of time and provide pressure in terms of maintaining stock and ensuring that the reported data are accurate. In the future, anglers requesting multiple rewards may need to be given a limited option of rewards in fairness to all program participants and to ensure consistent reward stock.

Special Program Acknowledgement

In other accomplishments, the VGFTP was certified by the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission (ASMFC) in 2013. The ASMFC has developed a voluntary certification process for tagging programs to endorse good tagging methods and sharing of tagging information among scientific and fisheries management groups. As part of the review, tagging programs provide information about their objectives and methods, and experts from the ASMFC Interstate Tagging Committee review the information to determine whether the study is scientifically sound and worthy of certification. The Committee is made up of scientists from state and federal agencies and academic institutions. More than 70 tagging programs are featured on the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission's Cooperative Tagging Registry. Of these programs, only 5 are currently certified by the Interstate Tagging Committee (ITC), and the Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program recently joined these ranks. The VGFTP scored 116 out of a possible 120 points and was recognized for its sound program objectives and strengths. Some of the program's benefits identified included unique data collection, hands-on training, program commitment and strong communication and outreach.

The final decision to endorse the VGFTP was made by the ITC with the input of the ASMFC Red Drum, Black Drum, Tautog, Summer Flounder and Black Sea Bass Technical Committees (TC) and the Spotted Seatrout Development Team (PDT). Evaluators highlighted the program's scientific design, noting that the VGFTP provides information on recreationally important species and non-legal sized fish that lack other sources of data. The program was commended for the training provided to taggers and the commitment of program personnel and anglers to the program. Evaluators also recognized the VGFTP's role in improving communication between fishery scientists and managers and the recreational fishing community while obtaining quality tagging data.

SPECIES RESULTS

2013 and Overall

Black Drum:

In 2013, 201 black drum were tagged, of which 75% (n=152) were adult fish (>16 inches TL). As in previous years, 2013 drum recaptures were low (n=3). The recapture rate in 2013 was approximately 1.5%, a decrease from 2012 (8.9%).

From 1995-2013, more than 3,790 black drum were tagged and 198 recaptures were reported (Tables 5, 6), for an overall recapture rate of 5.2%. The most popular tagging site in 2013 was the Hampton Roads Bridge Tunnel (n=42); this site made up 26% of the top ten tagging sites (Fig. 1a). (Note: All top tagging/recapture site figures discussed in species results describe the proportion of tags/recaptures at the top ten sites, not the overall proportion of all tagging/recapture sites). This differs from 1995-2010, where the peak tagging site was Inner Middle Ground Shoal (26% of top ten sites). Black drum recaptures were equally distributed among three sites: the Monitor Merrimac Bridge Tunnel, Corolla-False Cape-Duck and the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel first island. In previous years, the York River Hot Ditch was one of two top recapture sites (31% of the top ten along with Onancock Creek, 1995-2010). Tagged black drum ranged from 6-49.5 inches TL with a peak tagging effort at 17 and 19 inches TL (n=16 each) (Fig.2). Days at large for black drum ranged from 3 to 54 days for recaptures (Note: recapture data in this report for days at large include recaptures of fish tagged in previous years).

Black Sea Bass:

Just over 1,885 black sea bass were tagged in 2013. To manage program resources better, a minimum tagging size limit of 6.5 inches was implemented in 2010. Even with this size limit in place, black sea bass continued to have a high species recapture rate in 2013 at 32.2% (Table 6).

Black sea bass long-term results (1997-2013) show more than 28,620 fish tags and 5,504 recapture records (overall recapture rate = 19.2%, Tables 5,6). The top tagging site was Fort Monroe Area/Pier which made up 64% of the top ten tagging sites (Fig. 3a). Fort Monroe was also at the top of the list for tagging for black sea bass from 1997-2011. Ninety-two percent of recaptures took place at Fort Monroe (Fig. 3b), and Fort Monroe has been the top recapture site in the past (1997-2012). Tagged black sea bass ranged in size from 5-20 inches TL, with 6.5 inch fish at the peak (n=987) (Fig. 4). These results differ from the overall program pattern seen from 1997-2010, when peak effort occurred at 9 inches TL (n=2,106). Days at large for black sea bass ranged from 0 to 324 days (including recaptures from fished tagged in 2012).

Cobia:

In 2013, 212 cobia were tagged, of which 205 were adult fish (>24 inches TL). The recapture rate for cobia was 33.3%, an increase from 2012 (2.5%) The total number of cobia tags from 1995-2013 was 2,151, with 218 recaptures (Table 6). Cobia had an overall recapture rate of 10.1% for the past 19 years. The most popular tagging location in 2013 was the Baltimore Channel Buoy Line (43% of top ten, Fig. 5a). From 1995-2010, the top tagging sites were the Inner Middle Ground Shoal (25% of top ten) and lower York River (24%), though the Baltimore Channel was third. In 2013, recaptures were also highest at the Baltimore Channel Buoy Line (Fig. 5b). Tagged cobia ranged in size from 16-59.5

inches TL, with 34 inches (n=29) being the peak length (Fig. 6). This is close to tagging size frequencies from 1995-2010, where peak effort occurred at 31 inches TL (n=27). Cobia recapture data for days at large ranged from 95 to 1018 days and included fish that were tagged from 2010 through 2013.

Flounder:

The VGFTP set minimum tagging size limit restrictions in 2010 to better manage program activities (data entry and rewards). This decision helped to verify that the majority of single and multiple recaptures at piers and other structure sites were composed of primarily smaller fish (<12 in.). The Gloucester Point Fishing Pier was the top tagging site for the program (2007-2010) and similar site fidelity patterns for recaptures have been seen at the Hampton Roads Bridge Tunnel complex, Ocean View Fishing Pier, Fort Monroe Fishing Pier and Rudee Inlet waters. In 2013, approximately 892 flounder were tagged and 107 were recaptured (Table 5). From 2000-2013, more than 72,920 tags and 7,668 recaptures have been reported for flounder (Table 6), with an overall recapture rate of 10.5%. The top tagging and recapture site in 2013 was the Fort Monroe Area/Pier with 41% of the top ten sites for tagging, (Fig. 7a) and 71% of the top ten sites for recaptures (Fig. 7b.). The Gloucester Point Fishing Pier was the top tagging location for summer flounder from 2000-2010 and recaptures (29%). Tagged flounder varied in size from 6-22 inches TL, with the peak size for tagging at 12 inches TL (n=244) (Fig. 8). Days at large for flounder recaptures ranged from 1 to 1,343 days (including fish tagged as far back as 2009).

Red drum:

From 1998-2013, >500 red drum have been tagged annually (except 2001: n=295). In 2013, 5,926 red drum were tagged and 804 were recaptured (Table 5).

From 1995-2013, more than 52,954 red drum tags and 5,745 recapture records were reported for an overall recapture rate of 10.9% (Table 6). The top tagging and recapture site in 2013 was the York River Hot Ditch (39% of top ten tagging sites, Fig. 9a; 49% of top recapture sites Fig. 9b.). From 1995-2010 the York River Hot Ditch was also the top red drum tagging and recapture site (29% of the top ten sites, for tags and recaptures). In 2013, tagged red drum ranged in size from 7.5-51 inches TL, with the peak size for tagging 15 inches TL (n=451) (Fig. 10). The majority of tagged red drum were juveniles (n=3,604 < 18 in. TL). Peak effort in 2013 took place at the same size class as effort from 1995-2010 (15 inches TL, n=2,257). Days at large for recaptures of red drum ranged from 0 to 1,343 days (including fish that were tagged as far back as 2009).

Sheepshead:

Compared to 2012, tagged fish numbers were slightly lower in 2013 (28 fish, Table 5). For the third year in a row, no recaptures were reported (Table 6). The top tagging sites in 2013 were the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel, 4th Island and Lynnhaven Inlet, Lessner Bridge (each 23% of top ten, Fig. 11). This differs from 2000-2010 results, where the York River Hot Ditch was the top tagging location (44% of top ten).

Tagged sheepshead ranged in size from 9.5-24 inches TL, with peak effort at 12.5 inches TL (n=4) (Fig. 12). This pattern differed from 2000-2011 size frequencies, where peak effort occurred at the 6 inch size class (n=89).

Spadefish:

There were 108 spadefish tagged in 2013 and 11 recaptures (Table 5). There were over 5,950 spadefish tags and 611 recaptures reported over the past 19 years, for an overall recapture rate of 10.3% (Table 6). The most popular tagging and recapture location in 2013 was Chesapeake Light Tower (68% of top ten tagging and 67% of top ten recapture sites, Fig. 13a, 13b). This was the same as 1995-2011 results as the Chesapeake Light Tower was the top tagging site then (49% of top ten). However, 1995-2011 data showed York Spit Light as the top recapture site. Tagged spadefish ranged in size from 6-22.5 inches TL with peak effort at 9 inches TL (n=20) (Fig. 14). All of the tagged spadefish were within the mature size range (>4 in. TL), though peak effort in 2013 was at a smaller size than 1995-2011 (13 inches TL, n=281). Recapture data included days at large ranging from 2 to 48 days for spadefish.

Speckled trout:

From 1995-2013, more than 53,078 speckled trout tags and 2,235 recaptures were reported (4.2% overall recapture rate) (Table 6). In 2013, there were 6,516 tags and 271 recaptures reported; the Elizabeth River Hot Ditch was the top tagging and recapture site (24% of top ten tagging sites, Fig. 15a; 43% of top ten recapture sites, Fig. 15b). The Elizabeth River Hot Ditch was also the top tagging and recapture site for speckled trout from 1995-2010. Tagged speckled trout ranged in size from 7-32.75 inches TL, with a peak at 19 inches TL (n=408) (Fig. 16). Peak effort from 1995-2010 took place at the 12 inch size class (n=2,551). Days at large ranged from 0 to 696 days (including recaptures of fish tagged as far back as 2011).

Tautog:

Through 2013, tagging effort on tautog in Virginia waters has resulted in more than 17,640 tags (Table 6). From this effort, there have been 2,692 recaptures (Table 6). In 2013 alone, there were 1,064 tags and 125 recaptures. Tag-recapture data for tautog continue to document that the species does not undergo regular seasonal movements offshore during the fall or inshore during the winter. Tautog tagged in Virginia Bay and offshore waters show no distinctive northward migration over time. From 1995-2013, there was an overall recapture rate of 15.3%. The top tagging and recapture site in 2013 was the Morgan Wreck (15% of top ten tagging sites, Fig. 17a; 39% of top recapture sites Fig. 17b). This differed from 1995-2010, when the Cape Henry Wreck was the top tagging and recapture site. Tagged tautog ranged in size from 7-28.75 inches TL, with the peak at 14 inches (n=139) (Fig. 18). Peak effort from 1995-2010 also took place at a similar size class (13 inches, n=1,669). Tautog recapture data for days at large ranged from 0 to 2,370 days (including fish tagged as far back as 2007).

(Gray) Triggerfish:

During 2013 there were 24 gray triggerfish tagged, and 2 recaptures (Tables 5, 6). There were over 1,265 triggerfish tags and 322 recaptures from 2001-2013 (Table 6). Triggerfish had a high overall recapture rate of 25.4%. The top tagging location in 2013 the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel, first island (23% of top ten, Fig. 19). In previous years (2001-2010), False Cape was the top tagging site, (31% of top ten). There were 2 triggerfish recaptures in 2013; one at the second island and one at the fourth island of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel. Tagged triggerfish ranged in size from 7-16 inches TL, with the peak effort at 10 inches (n=4) (Fig. 20). Peak effort from 2001-2010 took place at the 13 inch TL size class (n=75). Days at large ranged from 15 to 19 days.

Conclusion

The VGFTP had a 46.9% decrease in tagging (n=16,874, Table 6) and a 14.7% increase in recaptures (n=2,029, Table 6) in 2013. Species with an increase in tagging included black drum (n=202 tags) black sea bass (n=1,886 tags), and tautog (n=1,064) (Table 6). Of these, black drum had the most impressive increase (up 38.4% from 2012).

Despite a slight decrease in tagging numbers from 2012, the top tagged species in 2013 was speckled trout. This is a return to 2010 and 2011 when speckled trout led the tagging effort. However, summer flounder, which ranked as the top tagged species from 2001-2009, were at their lowest levels since 2000. Flounder tagging decreased by 49.7% (n=1,776 in 2012; n=894 in 2013). Other species that had lower tagging numbers in 2013 included cobia (n=212 tags, 16 recaptures), red drum (n=5,940 tags, 864 recaptures); sheepshead (n=28 tags, 0 recaptures); spadefish (n=108 tags, 12 recaptures); speckled trout (n=6,516 tags, 271 recaptures); and triggerfish (n=24 tags, 2 recaptures, Table 6).

In conclusion, 2013 saw a reduction in the number of tagged fish and recaptures. VGFTP data echo discussion amongst the fishing community regarding a poor year for recreational fishing in general in 2013, though the VGFTP results are similar to those in 2010. Especially strong year classes of speckled trout in 2011 and red drum in 2012 boosted VGFTP tag and recapture numbers and this should be taken into consideration.

These data provided fish movement and site-fidelity patterns of fish captured and released in Chesapeake Bay and Atlantic coastal waters. VGFTP data have also provided an important source of information for marine fisheries management. In the past 19 years, more than 500 taggers have been trained and participated in the program and fishing effort has been documented at over 900 locations in Virginia waters.

Figure data in this report are accurate as of April 28, 2014 and table data are accurate as of April 23, 2014. Future analysis of long-term trends in the VGFTP data will continue with the most recent results available online: <http://www.vims.edu/vgftp/>. This report is considered a “living” document with updated versions posted at the website above.

This report accounts for double tagging and counts the number of fish that were tagged and not the number of tags. Double tag info is valid for 2008 and after. For recaptures, this report counts the number of fish recaptured and does not count multiple recaptures of the same fish. The first column under each species is the number of recaptured fish and the second column is the number of tagged fish.

*This table also includes 190 cobia and 199 spadefish that were tagged as part of a special cooperative study with the Virginia Tech Virginia Seafood Agriculture Research and Extension Center in 2012.

For recaptures, this table counts the total number of recaptures, including recaptures of the same fish. The first column under each species is the number of recaptured fish and the second column is the number of tags.

*This table also includes 190 cobia and 199 spadefish that were tagged as part of a special cooperative study with the Virginia Tech Virginia Seafood Agriculture Research and Extension Center in 2012.

Appendix C:

We've all heard fishing stories of "the one that got away." These stories are usually told with great enthusiasm and a sense of wonder regarding the status of the fish that escaped. This sense of wonder extends to the majority of undersized fish that are released, as most anglers never know what happens to their fish once they disappear below the surface of the water. Tagging programs allow anglers to follow the story of their fish when the fish is recaptured and reported.

The Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program (VGFTP) is one such program. A cooperative project of the Virginia Institute of Marine Science (VIMS) and the Virginia Marine Resources Commission (VMRC), the program trains experienced, volunteer recreational anglers to tag and release their fish while enhancing data-collection efforts. Since 1995, the VGFTP has been supported with revenues from Virginia's saltwater recreational fishing license and funding from VIMS. Each fish that is tagged in the program receives its own individual number that is tracked through time and with accompanying length and location information, tells the story of how much a fish has grown and where it has traveled.

The Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission (ASMFC) has developed a voluntary certification process for tagging programs to endorse good tagging methods and sharing of tagging information among scientific and fisheries management groups. As part of the review, tagging programs provide information about their objectives and methods, and experts from the ASMFC Interstate Tagging Committee review the information to determine whether the study is scientifically sound and worthy of certification. The Committee is made up of scientists from state and federal agencies and academic institutions. More than 70 tagging programs are featured on the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission's Cooperative Tagging Registry. Of these programs, only 5 are currently certified by the Interstate Tagging Committee (ITC), and the Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program recently joined these ranks. The VGFTP scored 116 out of a possible 120 points and was recognized for its sound program objectives and strengths. Some of the program's benefits identified included unique data collection, hands-on training, program commitment and strong communication and outreach.

The final decision to endorse the VGFTP was made by the ITC with the input of the ASMFC Red Drum, Black Drum, Tautog, Summer Flounder and Black Sea Bass Technical Committees (TC) and the Spotted Seatrout Development Team (PDT). Evaluators highlighted the program's scientific design, noting that the VGFTP provides information on recreationally important species and non-legal sized fish that lack other sources of data. The program was commended for the training provided to taggers and the commitment of program personnel and anglers to the program. Evaluators also recognized the VGFTP's role in improving communication between fishery scientists and managers and the recreational fishing community while obtaining quality tagging data.

Appendix D:

2013 Tag Recaptures by Species

1. Multiple recaptures are distinguished for individual fish by the records having IDENTICAL Tag Numbers and Tag Dates.
2. Multiple recaptures are listed in sequential order, with the most recent recapture listed first on the Tag Number column. Multiple recaptures often document the location of the fish over two different or distinct times. However, two (or more) recaptures of the same tagged fish can occur on the same day and even the same location. These types of events document good tagging and release survival rates for the species.
3. Multiple recapture data provide especially valuable information. This information can only be recorded when anglers write down and report the tag number as soon as possible, then release the fish with the tag still in place.
